“Actress Priyanka Chopra will be seen in an action-packed avatar in her debut Hollywood film. For the big screen adaptation of the popular American TV show, Baywatch, the actress will be training in a martial art form called Kajukenbo. Previously, Priyanka has performed numerous stunts and action sequences in several projects, including her latest release, Jai Gangaajal, and older ones like Mary Kom (2014), Drona (2008), and Don (2006), and also her ongoing American TV show, Quantico.

A source says, “She is always up for trying new stunts and techniques, and she is really excited about preparing for this role. Apparently, one of the best Kajukenbo trainers in America has been hired to work with her.” She will start training next month.”

If anyone knows who the Kajukenbo instructor is, please contact me.
